

Rachelle Clitesse

Experience

Before joining Noble & Scheidecker, Rachelle has worked for 3 years in a Belgian law firm, practising civil and commercial law. She has acquired a strong experience in litigation and, in particular, tax litigation.

Rachelle enjoys working for group restructuring implementation projects, including coordination with foreign lawyers, tax advisors and clients. She likes being involved in challenging files that require innovation and finding creative solutions to meet international business requirements whilst complying with Luxembourg legal constraints.

She is also involved in matters relating to the organization of the firm, such as improving the firm's welcome procedure for new recruits, the efficiency of the secretarial team, etc.

Education

Postgraduate degree in tax law (DESS en Fiscalité), Hautes Etudes Commerciales, Liège (Belgium), 2005

Law degree, University of Liège (Belgium), 2002

Bar Admission

Member of the Luxembourg Bar, 2006 and of the Liège Bar (Belgium), 2002

Hobbies

Rachelle is a good skier and goes skiing in the French Alps every year.

She loves spending time in a family holiday home in the South of France.

In her spare time, she also likes reading both classical and contemporary literature and going to restaurants with friends.
