

Marie Gravinèse

Experience

Marie joined the team in early 2007, having previously performed an internship in a French association defending consumers' rights.

At MNKS, Marie prepares the documentation for corporate transactions (such as capital increase/decrease and any other amendments to the articles of association, migrations, liquidations...). She also translates legal documents from English to French.

These different experiences allow her to get a better sense of the business world. Attracted by international law, she enjoys being involved in projects having an international exposure. She appreciates the day-to-day working team composed of young people and spirits. She finds her job creative in many ways.

Education

Post graduate degree in international business law, University of Nancy II (France), 2006-2007

Law degree in business law, University of Nancy VI (France), 2006

University diploma in European culture, University of Nancy VI (France), 2006

Hobbies

She enjoys the natural environment of her native region, the Vosges, in particular when covered by the snow.

Spending time, having a drink or eating at restaurants with friends once per week is crucial for her. She also likes going to the cinema.

She would like to try some extreme sport such as parachuting or rafting, but for the moment, she enjoys running and swimming.
