

Catherine Jardin

Experience

Catherine joined the team in early 2006, following her internship at Noble & Scheidecker. During this time she assisted a major global e-commerce player in analysing the compliance of his products with Luxembourg law, advised foreign companies on the registration of their trademarks with the Benelux Office for Intellectual Property and helped restructuring an international airline.

She is mainly involved in the structuring of international group companies and in the intellectual property, information and communication technologies fields.

In the framework of her "Referendariat", consisting of two years of practical trainings in various institutions and law firms prior to the Second State Examination in Germany, Catherine interned for a period of three months in a consulting business in New York, where she assisted small and mid-sized American companies to expand their activity in the European market and organized networking events.

Currently, Catherine is in the process of completing a doctorate in law.
